1. About This Cookies Policy

This Cookies Policy explains how Sober Bootcamp UK CIC ("Sober Bootcamp", "we", "us" or "our") uses cookies and similar technologies when you visit www.soberbootcamp.co.uk.

Our website is hosted using Wix.

We want visitors to understand what information may be stored on or accessed from their device when using our website and to have appropriate control over non-essential cookies.

This Cookies Policy should be read alongside our Privacy Policy.

2. What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files that websites can place on your computer, mobile phone, tablet or other device when you visit them.

Cookies can help websites:

- operate securely and correctly;
- remember visitor preferences;
- provide forms and website functionality;
- understand how visitors use the website;
- identify technical problems;
- improve website performance;
- provide embedded third-party services; and
- measure the effectiveness of communications or marketing where applicable.

Similar technologies, including pixels, scripts, tags and local storage, may perform comparable functions.

3. The Types of Cookies We May Use

Essential Cookies

Essential cookies are required for the website to function properly.

They may be used for purposes including:

- website security;
- fraud prevention;
- network management;

- maintaining website sessions;
- remembering cookie consent choices;
- enabling forms or functions requested by a visitor; and
- ensuring the website loads and operates correctly.

Because these cookies are necessary for the operation of the website, they may not require your consent.

Disabling essential cookies through your browser may prevent parts of the website from functioning correctly.

Functional Cookies

Functional cookies allow the website to remember choices you make and provide enhanced functionality.

They may be used to remember things such as:

- language or display preferences;
- previous website choices;
- form preferences; or
- settings associated with certain website features.

Where required, functional cookies will only be used after you have given your consent.

Analytics Cookies

Analytics cookies help us understand how visitors interact with our website.

They may provide information such as:

- which pages are visited;
- how visitors arrive at our website;
- how long visitors spend on certain pages;
- which links visitors interact with;
- approximate visitor numbers;
- device or browser information; and
- whether technical errors occur.

We may use this information to improve the website, understand which information is most useful to visitors and improve the experience for people seeking support, families, professionals and partner organisations.

Analytics cookies will only be used where permitted and, where required, after you have provided consent.

Marketing Cookies

Marketing cookies may be used to understand the effectiveness of promotional activity or to support advertising or social-media-related functionality.

If marketing or advertising technologies are enabled on our website, these cookies will not be treated as essential cookies and will only be used where the appropriate consent has been obtained.

You can decline marketing cookies without preventing you from accessing the main content of our website.

4. Wix Cookies

Our website is created and hosted using Wix.com.

Wix may use cookies and similar technologies as part of providing the infrastructure required to operate our website.

These may support functions including:

- security;
- fraud prevention;
- website performance;
- network management;
- visitor sessions;
- accessibility;
- consent management;
- analytics; and
- website functionality.

Some cookies may therefore be placed directly by Wix when you visit our website.

The specific cookies used may change as Wix updates its services and technology.

5. Third-Party Services

Some areas of our website may use services provided by third parties.

For example, our website may include or link to:

- Instagram or other social media platforms;
- embedded social media content;
- website forms;
- donation or payment functionality;
- booking or enquiry features;
- analytics services; and
- other Wix applications or website integrations.

Where you interact with third-party content or services, those organisations may place their own cookies or use similar technologies.

Third-party organisations are responsible for their own privacy and cookie practices.

We recommend reviewing the privacy and cookie information provided by those organisations if you would like to understand how they process your information.

6. Social Media Content

Our website may display content or links from social media platforms such as Instagram.

Social media providers may collect information when you interact with embedded content or follow links to their services.

This could include information about your device, browser or interaction with the content.

Where consent is required for non-essential social media cookies, these technologies should only be activated after the appropriate consent has been provided.

7. Cookie Consent

When you first visit our website, you may be presented with a cookie consent banner or cookie settings tool.

You may be given options to:

- accept cookies;
- reject non-essential cookies; or
- manage your cookie preferences.

Essential cookies may still operate because they are necessary for the website to function.

Non-essential cookies should only be activated where the appropriate consent or other lawful exemption applies.

You can change or withdraw your cookie preferences where the website provides a cookie settings control.

8. How Long Cookies Are Stored

Different cookies are stored for different periods.

Some cookies are session cookies, meaning they are deleted when you close your browser.

Other cookies are persistent cookies, meaning they remain on your device for a set period or until you delete them.

The duration of individual cookies can depend on their purpose and the service provider responsible for setting them.

We aim to ensure that cookies and similar technologies are retained only for as long as reasonably necessary for their intended purpose.

9. Managing Cookies Through Your Browser

Most internet browsers allow you to manage cookies through their settings.

Depending on your browser, you may be able to:

- view stored cookies;
- delete cookies;
- block specific cookies;
- block third-party cookies;
- block all cookies;
- clear cookies when you close your browser; or
- use private or incognito browsing.

Please be aware that blocking all cookies may affect how some parts of our website work.

10. Personal Information Collected Through Cookies

Some cookies or similar technologies may involve the processing of information that could be considered personal data.

Where personal information is processed, we handle that information in accordance with applicable data protection law and our Privacy Policy.

We will not intentionally use cookie technology to collect sensitive information about a person's recovery, health or circumstances without an appropriate legal basis and suitable safeguards.

11. Changes to This Cookies Policy

We may update this Cookies Policy from time to time to reflect:

- changes to our website;
- new website features;
- changes to the cookies or technologies we use;
- changes to third-party services; or
- changes to legal or regulatory requirements.

The latest version will always be published on this page and the Last Updated date will be amended accordingly.
